

National Police Week was enacted October 1, 1962 by the United States Congress.

This resolution authorized then President John F. Kennedy to proclaim the calendar week of May 15th each year as Police Week. Every year, for the last 60 years, people across the country gather during this week to honor those who serve their communities through law enforcement and pay special recognition to those who have lost their lives in the line of duty for the safety and protection of others.

On behalf of Police Chief Joseph A. Battaglia
